

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A group III nitride compound semiconductor device is produced according to the following manner. A separation layer made of a material which prevents group III nitride compound
5 semiconductors from being grown thereon is formed on a substrate. Group III nitride compound semiconductors is grown on a surface of the substrate uncovered with the separation layer while keeping the uncovered substrate surface separated by the separation layer.

0985927 440604